Deeza's 2009 catalog has 840 pages of import and domestic offerings.

TOTOW, NJ -- Deeza Chassis Parts, a subsidiary of European chassis parts maker Disa Automotive Ltd., has announced the release of its new 2009 North American Chassis Catalog.

Deeza's 2009 catalog has 840 pages of import and domestic offerings. It is organized by make, model, year and offers more than 1,400 parts, including stabilizer links, link kits, inner tie rod ends, outer tie rod ends, control arms and ball joints. A cross-reference table is also provided for OEM numbers. The catalog provides more than 85 percent coverage through current model year on the top import vehicle platforms in the U.S. and Canada, as well as more than 90 percent coverage for link stabilizers and inner tie rod ends for domestic car applications.

With the last version released in 2008, the 2009 Catalog offers more than 700 new part numbers and Deeza is planning to add another 400 part numbers to its catalog in 2009. All catalog information is available in Wrenchhead and Activant e-catalogs.

The 2009 Catalog can be obtained on the Deeza Chassis Parts website:
